TODAY'S MODERN NAVY

WHO WE ARE

The Royal Australian Navy is a world-class organisation comprising:

- 20,000+ sailors and officers including 6,000+ in the Navy Reserve
- 16 establishments across Australia
- 100+ high-tech ships, submarines and aircraft

WHAT WE DO

The Navy fulfils key defensive roles such as:

- Patrolling Australia's coastline
- Protecting trade routes
- Supporting international security initiatives

We also provide non-defence services including:

- Search and rescue
- Community support and disaster relief
- Ocean surveys and mapping

HOW WE RECRUIT

We welcome diversity and are committed to equality. Navy Sailor roles are open to all Australians, regardless of their gender, ethnic origin or cultural background.

Women in the Navy receive exactly the same job choices, pay and training as men. Recruitment and ongoing career advancement opportunities are based solely on potential, effort and achievement.

PATHWAYS FOR WOMEN

If you are female and keen to join the Navy in a technical role but are concerned about the four to six-year commitment, you can apply for a two-year role in any of these jobs:

- Aircraft Technician
- Avionics Technician
- Electronics Technician
- Marine Technician

 'ABOUT THE NAVY'

REASONS TO JOIN

MANY NEW RECRUITS ARE DRAWN TO THE NAVY BY THE VARIED AND REWARDING WORK, BUT THERE ARE PLENTY OF OTHER GOOD REASONS TO JOIN. THE NAVY OFFERS A RICH MIX OF BENEFITS RARELY FOUND IN CIVILIAN EMPLOYMENT.

CAREER BENEFITS

- Fully-paid military and job training
- Nationally-recognised qualifications
- Management and leadership training
- Clear avenues for career development

FINANCIAL BENEFITS

- A good salary plus allowances
- Generous superannuation
- Free medical and dental
- Subsidised accommodation

LIFESTYLE BENEFITS

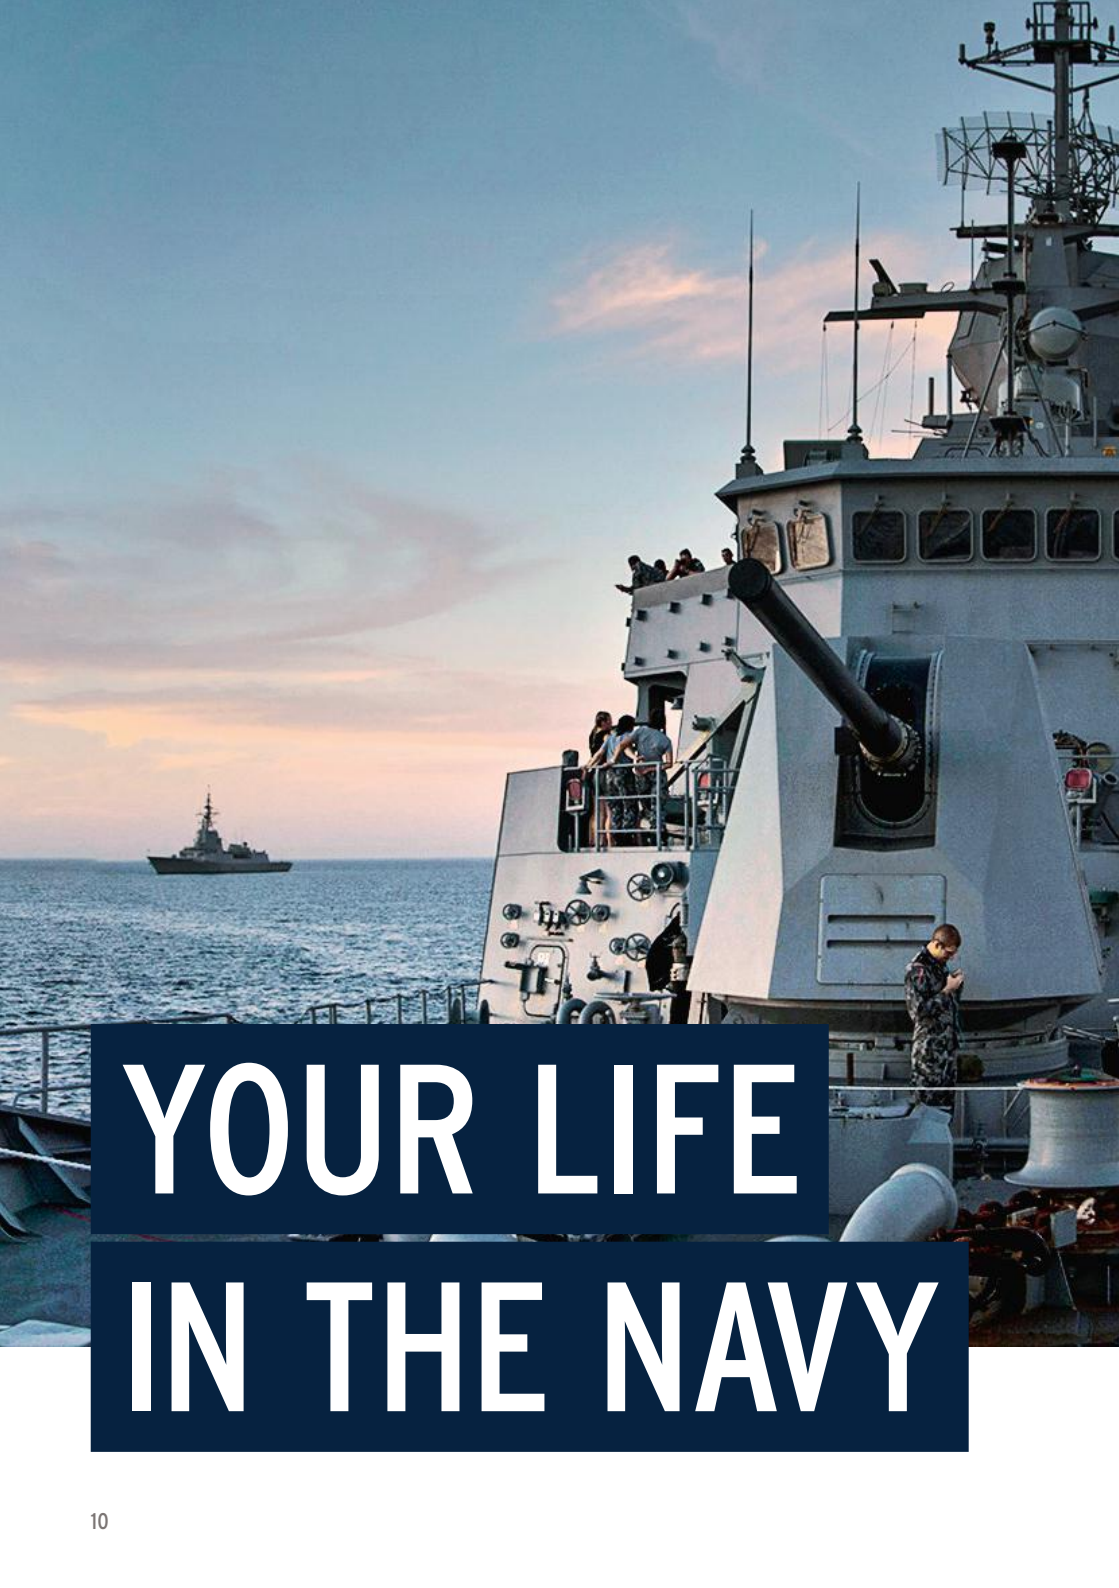

- Work balanced with spare time
- Supportive working environment
- Free sports and fitness facilities
- Travel and leave entitlements

All that plus memorable experiences such as participating in Navy exercises, humanitarian operations, peacekeeping initiatives and disaster-relief activities at home and overseas.

 'NAVY BENEFITS'

YOUR LIFE

IN THE NAVY

NO TWO DAYS WILL EVER BE THE SAME. HOW MANY JOBS CAN PROMISE THAT? WHETHER AT SEA OR ASHORE, IN THE NAVY YOU'LL ENJOY VARIETY, TRAVEL, ADVENTURE, FULFILLING CHALLENGES AND A UNIQUE LIFESTYLE.

WORKING ASHORE

Whatever role you choose, you'll spend time ashore and working hours can be much like those of any other job. The Navy is committed to providing all sailors with a good balance between your duties and your personal life.

You can make the most of the extensive sports and social facilities on base, or head out to discover the delights of your neighbourhood. All the while you'll forge friendships that last a lifetime.

TIME AT SEA

All sailors spend time at sea, where life is as far from the mundane as you can imagine. You'll discover the true meaning of teamwork and camaraderie as a member of a close-knit group on board.

In addition to carrying out the duties associated with your everyday role, you'll also be engaged in the general maintenance and upkeep of your Navy vessels and equipment as part of the larger team.

For your spare time, all ships are equipped with exercise and entertainment equipment, along with ways to stay in touch with loved ones. The food we serve is of the highest quality, and the view from your 'home' will change every day.

IN A SUBMARINE

For some Navy Sailors, there's no place they'd rather work than the unique environment of a Collins Class submarine. If you join as a submariner, pretty much everything we've talked about here applies, other than the view when at sea.

Submarines are highly supportive communities that offer plenty of opportunities for relaxation and entertainment. Maintaining fitness is important, so all vessels feature a variety of exercise equipment.

COMMUNICATIONS, IT & INTELLIGENCE

ACOUSTIC ANALYST SUBMARINER

Make your mark in the unique environment of a Collins Class submarine, operating the sophisticated sonar and combat systems that detect threats of incursion by hostile ships and other submarines.

Comprehensive training will equip you with the skills to manage this highly sophisticated equipment, which allows you to detect, track and classify potential threats. As a multitasking submariner you'll also learn watch-keeping, navigation, helming, damage control, safety systems and general seamanship.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

COMMUNICATION & INFORMATION SYSTEMS OPERATOR

Enjoy a high-tech role operating the sophisticated military communication and computer systems that enable the flow of information throughout your ship, between vessels, and beyond.

Working at the heart of operations, the advanced equipment you'll use spans the communications spectrum. You'll be trained to work with Local Area Networks, radio, satellite and electronic mail, and learn traditional ship-to-ship signalling methods such as lights and flags.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

COMMUNICATION & INFORMATION

SYSTEMS SUBMARINER

Join a close-knit team in the uniquely supportive environment of a submarine, operating the advanced communication systems that keep your vessel connected both internally and externally.

You'll be trained to operate telecommunication systems, manage and maintain Local Area Networks, and handle ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore communications by radio, satellite and electronic mail. Much of the information handled will be highly classified so your natural discretion will be an essential attribute.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

CRYPTOLOGIC LINGUIST

Operate in a highly classified team environment on base and at sea, using sophisticated search receivers and other specialised equipment to monitor, intercept, record, analyse, disseminate and share information obtained from communications transmissions.

Full training in the use of this advanced technology will be provided, and your work will have a direct impact on the success of Navy operations.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

Q 'NAVY <JOB TITLE>

CRYPTOLOGICAL NETWORKS

Support the Navy's intelligence mission at sea and ashore as a Cryptological Networks sailor, and perform classified tasks at strategic, operational, and tactical levels.

In the role, you'll work with state-of-the-art technology to conduct key cyberspace operations. These can include identifying threats, protecting and hardening networks, detecting and responding to cyber incidents, and if need be, recovering the network to a working state.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

CRYPTOLOGIST SYSTEMS OPERATOR

Take responsibility for the analysis of machine-generated communications in this highly classified role that helps inform military strategy and gain tactical advantage over the enemy.

No experience is necessary as full technical training is provided. You'll learn to use sophisticated search receivers and other state-of-the-art equipment to intercept, record, analyse and disseminate technical parameters and other intelligence of signal transmissions.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

ELECTRONIC WARFARE SYSTEMS OPERATOR

Take your place at the heart of the action in a ship's operations room. In this critical intelligence role you'll be trained to use specialised sensors, high-tech equipment and your analytical skills to intercept and identify electronic transmissions from both friendly and hostile forces.

In many cases you'll be the first to identify a threat to your ship and to initiate countermeasures, so you'll need the natural ability to remain calm in high-pressure situations.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

ELECTRONIC WARFARE SYSTEMS SUBMARINER

Step up to a exciting role conducted in the unique environment of a Collins Class submarine, operating specialised equipment to intercept electromagnetic emissions.

You'll be responsible for detecting and analysing radio and radar transmissions from potentially hostile sources, and initiating countermeasures when necessary. If you have good analytical ability and a calm demeanour, Navy training will provide you with all the skills you need for this role.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

HYDROGRAPHIC SURVEYOR

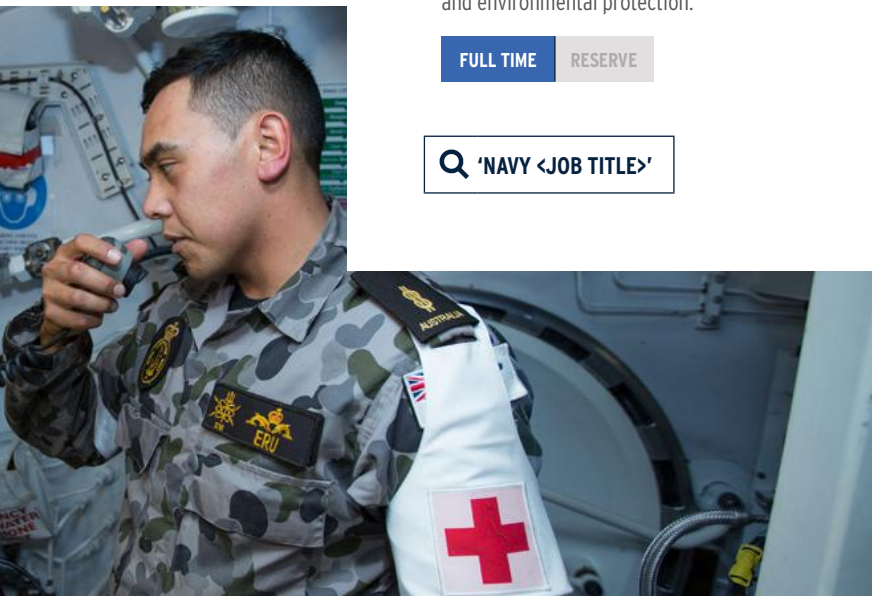

Experience rarely visited parts of the world as a member of a close-knit survey team, trained to collect and analyse data about the ocean and sea floor for a variety of purposes.

You'll spend significant periods at sea in this important role, using sophisticated computer-based surveying equipment to acquire and interpret data that assists in chart preparation, safe navigation, economic development, security and defence, and environmental protection.

LOGISTICS, HOSPITALITY & SUPPORT

AVIATION GROUND CREW

Take on an exciting role aboard a Canberra Class Amphibious Assault Ship (LHD), managing all flight and hangar deck systems and controlling helicopter movements.

In all sea states and whatever the weather, you'll be trained to operate aircraft and weapon lift systems, mechanical handling equipment and securing systems. You'll also play a key accident response role and in common with all sailors, will undertake a variety of seamanship tasks.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

CHEF

Broaden your horizons with a hospitality role that really takes you places, and offers work variety, unique camaraderie and an amazing lifestyle.

The Navy is a great place to learn to be a chef. You'll be taught all the skills required such as planning and provisioning, food storage and hygiene, and the cooking itself. The well-equipped kitchens (galleys) you cook in could be anywhere from a Navy base to a vessel at sea.

FULL TIME

RESERVE

CHEF SUBMARINER

Accept the ultimate catering challenge, planning, preparing and serving meals in the uniquely rewarding environment of a Collins Class submarine.

Expert training will equip you with all the skills required such as planning and provisioning, food storage and hygiene, and the cooking itself. As a submariner you'll also be expected to multi-task, engaging in a variety of seamanship duties at sea and when on base.
